Bonnette is Released.

In the Wood county criminal court yesterday morning, James F. Bonnette, after being in jail for several weeks, and who it is alleged embezzled funds of the Central District & Printing Telegraph Company, gave bond in the sum of $750 with the Citizens' Trust and Guaranty Company as surety, for his appearance at the January term of court. He came to this city yesterday afternoon, where his family resides. His friends are confident the charge will be disproven.

Davidson Imbibed too Much.

William Davidson, the Washington, Pa., man who confessed to Constable Thomas yesterday morning early that he had committed a burglary in Washington county, and feeling that the constable was "onto" him, gave himself up, was not the criminal he pictured himself when arraigned before Judge Fitzpatrick yesterday. Davidson, who is a blacksmith, was drunk when he accepted the constable and his tale was merely the effusion of the wheels whiskey was working in his upper story. On a charge of drunkenness he was assessed $1 and costs, which he paid.

Pickett Arrested.

John Pickett ran into Officer Turner's herculean grasp last night. John is the individual who made a name for himself at Mrs. Lowery's boarding house at 903 Main street a few days ago, for in taking his unannounced departure he took overcoats, watches and other articles from fellow boarders. John had been at the house only a night or two, but he got his bearings in that time. It was learned that he pawned a watch at "Uncle Ben's" place. Willard Melton, clerk at Kraus Bros., was one of the victims. Three charges will be placed against Pickett.

An Audience With Pope Leo XIII.

In the course of the lecture at the Carroll club auditorium Monday evening, October 23, Rt. Rev. Bishop Donohue will give a minute description of the audience granted to him by Pope Leo during his recent visit to Rome. This is one of the most interesting features connected with a trip to the Holy City, and a good treat in store for those who avail themselves of the privilege granted them to hear such a vivid description as Bishop Donohue will give. Owing to the large demand for seats it has been decided to reserve the seats in the balcony. These seats will be on sale at the Carroll club Friday morning for 25 cents extra.

STEINGRAVER MEMBER OF A SUICIDE CLUB.

This may Explain the Cause of the Stogie Worker's Suicide in the Ohio River.

THE BODY FOUND YESTERDAY

And was Identified by the Wearing Apparel—Coroner Schultze Investigates Circumstances.

George Steingraver, the stogie roller, whose body was found in the river at the foot of Forty-first street, after a disappearance dating a week since may have committed suicide through the innocent fun that was poked at him by fellow workmen at Miller's stogie factory, on South Market street. Steingraver did not possess the sense of humor to a great degree, and as a consequence the boys in the shop were always making him the butt of their jokes. Last spring they organized a "suicide club," and it was agreed that at stated intervals ballots would be taken to determine who of the membership would commit self destruction. Shortly before Steingraver's disappearance it had been agreed that a ballot would be taken soon, and that the man drawing "13" would have to die. The boys intended to mark all the slips with the number, "13," so that Steingraver, who was the only member of the club who wasn't "in on the fun," would firmly believe that his time had come. However, before the ballot was taken, Steingraver had disappeared, and now that it has come to light that he committed suicide in the river, some of his friends assert that the "suicide club" fun doubtless preyed on his mind so that he carried out in advance what he probably thought would eventually be ordained by the laws of the club.

The body was found at Bloch's landing yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock by Lewis Hanke, occupant of a house boat at the foot of Thirty-ninth street, who caught the body on his trot line. It was towed to the shore, after which County Coroner Schultze was notified. The body was identified by some of the wearing apparel.

Coroner Schultze found that the deceased came to his death while temporarily out of his mind, by drowning in the river.

Prices.

Price is not the only thing. It's not always the price that makes the bargain. It's what you can get for the price.

In this scramble for business it is easily possible to disguise quality. Price is an argument to be sure, but it often covers many weaknesses.

Look about carefully, get prices, compare quality, and after that give us a chance to show you our $10.00 and $12.00 heavy Covert Cloth Overcoats and the beautiful Worsted Suits we are selling at $10.00, $12.00, $13.50 and $15.00.

Our prices are the very lowest possible. We don't think they are matched anywhere.
